About the Author

Martin was driven towards making this booklet following intense disillusionment with the education system after realising how much of a joke it was, coupled with disgust at the how anyone who worked at CGP could consider themselves designers or as possessors of any semblance of taste. He consequently set out to prove how a 15 year old working in PowerPoint could outdo those whose livelihoods depended on terrible jokes and shoddy advice. This concise guide is the culmination of that work.

Martin He, aged 15, enjoys long walks on the beach with his 73 children and in his spare time, likes to pretend that the world is upside down by doing a handstand on his wall.
